

Get Out the Good Word!

Publishing your curricular innovations

Tanya Furman & Laura Guertin

PAESTA conference, October 2012

What is worth sharing?

- Lesson plans on new topics
- Lesson plans that you've revised and improved
- Successful ways to structure curriculum
- Fresh understanding of Big Ideas
- Successful partnerships

Why should I publish my work?

- Well-deserved recognition of your efforts
- Sharing builds a community
- Improve your own profile
- Improve status of Earth and Space Science

How will I know where to publish?

- PAESTA curriculum resources web site
- In The Trenches (NAGT, K-12 & college)
- The Earth Scientist (NESTA, K-12)
- Science Scope (NSTA, middle grades)

All are peer-reviewed and credible journals

Who will help me?

- Earth & Space Science Partnership personnel
- Workshop faculty
- PAESTA officers and colleagues
- Graduate students (STEM and ED)

Contact us!

guertin@psu.edu

furman@psu.edu

